Hello December!! The air is filled with the sights and sounds of Christmas. We are Looking forward to this month at school as we prepare for Christmas. We will spend the month celebrating the birth of Jesus and explore the many other traditions that Christmas brings. Stars will be shining, Trees will be twinkling and Angels will be glowing. We will end our month with our school wide Christmas Chapel / Pajama Day. The children DO NOT need their Green T-shirts that day but can wear comfy cozy pajamas to school. Please have them wear shoes as usual because they will be still going into the bathroom!! If your daughter would like to wear a nightgown we ask that they wear leggings underneath.

In the midst of all the celebrating we will continue to work on learning our letters and handwriting. Each week we learn a new letter thru literacy, hands on activity, art and writing in our workbooks. We also go back and complete activities to review the previous letters.

Looking ahead to January we wanted to remind all our wonderful Dads that their special night with their preschooler will be on Thursday January 31 at 6:00 p.m. This is our annual Spaghetti Dinner which is a memorable tradition at Calvary Preschool. Save the date and more details will come after the new year. For our military families, if Dad is away working another adult male can attend in his place. Please let us know if you have any questions.
